

Lauren Rousseau

TWEET

Gala Perez
@gala_p786

Follow

Dear Lauren, you were such a bright star. You never failed to make your students feel okay and to make them enjoy school. You died protecting your students like a brave superhero. May you rest in peace and never forget we love you and we all appreciate what you did for those kids

5:09 PM - 14 Dec 2012

LIFE

On December 14, 2012 you were shot and killed trying to save your students. You were meant to educate your students and for that they will always remember you. Your family and friends that you left behind will always appreciate your kindness and the happiness you spread around. You died a hero and for that everyone will always remember you as the best teacher.

AMENDMENT

Here is another sad story of guns ruining lives. This teacher was only trying to educate her students when tragedy struck. And of course a gun was involved. It's to the point where people are so used to losing so many to guns were starting to lose hope in a gun amendment. This is an outrage and something seriously has to be done about these guns.

STATISTIC

Another senseless death.